

MORE

(written by Kenneth Cope)

More steady, more sure
More trusted, more pure
Some say it doesn't matter

More trained and more aware
More aim to get me there
I climb this far
You raise the bar
You want my heart

CHORUS:

*More fierce desire
To stand against the wind
More blazing fire
When dark is closing in
More love inspired change within
So there's more and more of me to give*

More words to learn and know
More etched upon my soul
Some say it doesn't matter

More tried, more true
Less me, and much more You
I stretch this tall
You sound the call
You want my all

REPEAT CHORUS

*You keep reaching out—You're calling out to me for More strengthened shoulders
To face the war with sin
More wise and bolder
To save the souls of men
A more faithful soldier to the end
You want more and more of me to give*

More and more of me to give
More love, more light, more purpose, more serve with all my might
I need more hope, more faith, more patience, each day I pray for more
More and more of me to give
More fire, more zeal, more spirit to know what's real
More courage, more joy, more, more and more of me to give
More grateful, more true, more humble to trust and do
You call, I hear
I'll walk the path that's set in stone
My heart is fixed on getting home
And what on earth could ever matter more?
More and more of me to give
More
