

YOUR FATHER'S CHILD

(written by Kenneth Cope)

Strong and wise—captivating eyes
Magnificent being
Spirit bright, emanating light
Now hid from our seeing
You forget who you are
You, who outshone the stars
Amazing smile
You are your Father's child

Son of Man, at the Lord's right hand
Anointed as Savior
Power and grace, filling endless space
Reduced to a manger
He'd forget who He was
He, who outshone the sun
Yet, all the while
He was His Father's child

Now there were none before or after like Him
He was God with us and is God still
In life and death His love for us defined Him
And to do His Father's will
And so He came to save
Because you are your Father's child

Here and now, when the fire goes out
And it keeps you from singing
When sad and gray seem to steal away
All joy and all meaning
When you're broken in two
When your heart says you're through
Come alive
You're still your Father's child
Find that smile
And be your Father's child

© 2007 God Stories (BMI)